This forum must be mindful about it's critical thought and advocacy. We have here (in the BOU) a space of wonderful possibility, a space established for quality reasoning (sababu), intended for the development of clarity and progress.

Personally I find the rise of anti-Chinese rhetoric from some vocal Africans a tragic turn. A poor use of time and energy at a time when we need to focus on the key points of development potential. What can be done to balance the relationship (ratios) of power between the cultural dynamics of Africa and China?. Establishing sovereign peership and mutually respectful cooperation should be our focus point, surely?

It is easy to join the anti-Chinese rhetoric bandwagon, I caution against it, it is anti-maat; anti-justice, anti-humanity-overstood. Are Ones anti-Chinese people, anti-Chinese government or both? ! Metaphysically self-destructive; a critically poor use of time and energy.

I am very clear that "China" can do and does do White racism as well as Europe, the USA and other dominating cultures – institutionalised power injustices, imbalances, inequalities against progressively more melanated beings and cultures; fear of a Black planet is a global phenomena, a "loveHATE" 💔 psychosis and insecurity. Let us not jump from one "master's" dog-whistle to attack another "master". Our objective is to dismantle THE WHOLE structure of injustice, establishing and maintaining as we go, the proper human social order (Maat) - Sovereign Peership - this is not the domination model. The Black Open University as an organization for advancing education from an African place of being is a key place to discuss developing answers (and more questions) towards these kinds of objective.

Do bare in mind that a WhatsApp group has a limited range of function (project management is not one of them), We have other forums for project management support;

- PIU Community Project Management Support
  - https://openproject.peoplescience.org.uk

- Black Open University - eLearning Portal
  - https://www.blackopenuniversity.eu/moodle

- Educating with Unifiedknowledge: Foundation Course One
  - https://www.abundancecentre.org/pedagogy

The process of dismantling the injustice is not about pulling down others, it is simply about finding our most upright ways of being and standing in these stances.   As well as our critical thought let this forum share insight on project, programmes and dynamics happening within the cosmos of melanated African beings that express progressive stances. Let us pay special attention to them 👀 and analyse them so that their strengths can be replicated, woven into our Nu Culture.

Culture = patterns of growth and ways of being. Living cultures grow.

Some of you know that our organisation has worked in Africa. We hold as a high objective the establishment of educational reform panAfrica; locally, regionally, nationally, panAfrica, globally. We have reconstituted the ancient organic seed (የጥምር:ዕውቀት:: YehT'mr Urwuk'eht) of that process and continue to nurture (and guard) it.

If our envisioned network of Schools Of Unified Learning were fully expressed today we would be enabling cadets, families and communities in STEAM'd uP learning (Unifiedknowledge), that's STEM + the Arts; science, technology, engineering, the arts and maths; from an African place of being. Within that we'd go deeply into classical African language as a fundamental learning base and the key languages panAfrica. But additionally we would ensure our cadets, families and communities had high quality mastery pathways in Chinese languages, Arabic, Russian as well as key languages of Europe (including Latin). The Unifiedknowledge Language protocol can facilitate this, would you like to know how?

Those truly interested in "school" building in Africa, educational projects and programmes, should contact us directly to receive our introductory guide to the Unifiedknowledge Approach to Education; there in a globally important blueprint is revealed, you can learn more about it now.

This is called strengthening One's stance.
